

The Impact of the New Administration

MFY Legal Services is deeply concerned about the impact the new administration will have on our clients who are a diverse group of people who struggle every day to maintain housing, income and the precious few resources they have. They battle discrimination for who they are, push through each day with debilitating illnesses, have tenuous immigration status, and generally live on the margins of society. We are also deeply concerned their situations may become exacerbated by new federal policy. We will take this one day at a time and do all we can to affect law and policy, as we do every day at MFY. We are committed to equal justice for all, and we will stay focused on our mission and fight more than ever for our clients.
